The Position of Mamak Kepala Waris in High Ancestral Inheritance in Minangkabau Indigenous Community

Ellyne Dwi Poespasari

Abstract

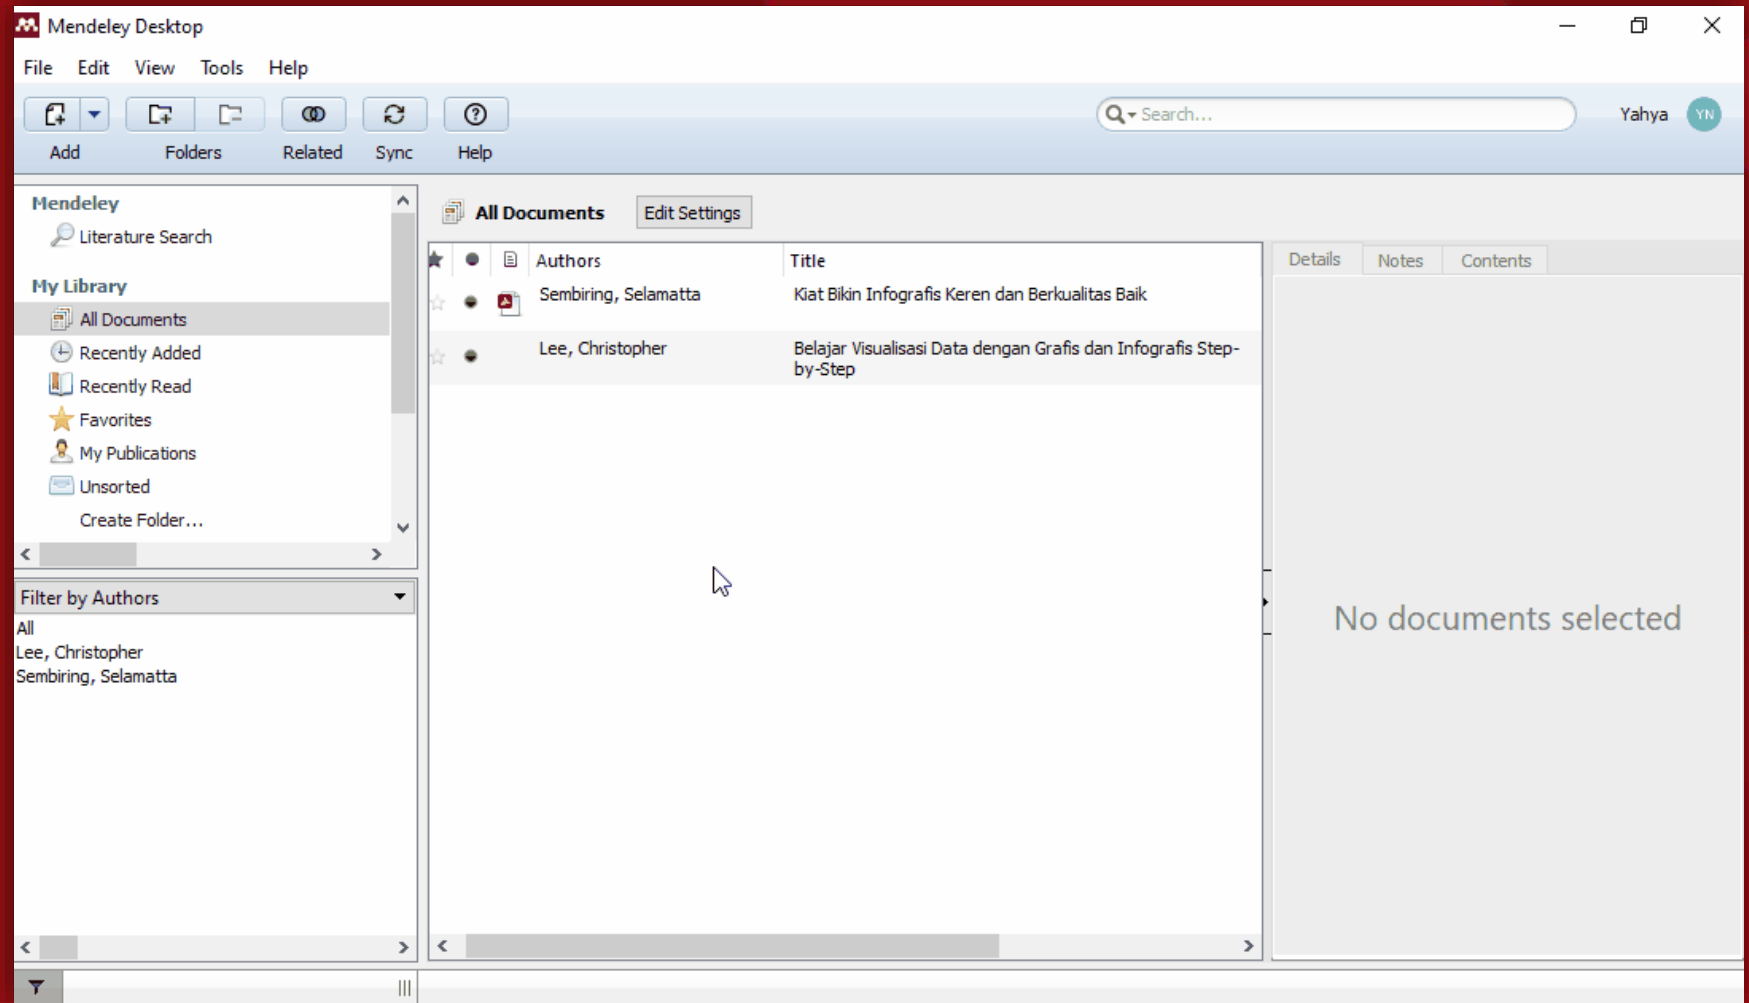

There has been a paradigm shift on the legal stance, role and function of 'mamak kepala waris' in 'harta pusaka tinggi' -inheritance that has been handed down to generations- in the Minangkabau community. This article examines several legal issues regarding the role of 'mamak kepala waris' in 'harta pusaka tinggi' in the Minangkabau indigenous community. Firstly, how is the legal position of mamak kepala waris in the management of 'harta pusaka tinggi' in Minangkabau. Secondly, how is the current development of the role of 'mamak kepala waris' in 'harta pusaka tinggi' in the Minangkabau indigenous community. This research is an empirical juridical research with descriptive analysis. The primary data for this study were obtained through observation, interviews with respondents and legal experts, while the secondary data were taken from desk study on legal documents including jurisprudence and legal theories. The results of the study: first, the legal position of 'mamak kepala waris' is very important in managing, regulating, supervising and being responsible for the properties that have been inherited through generations (harta pusaka tinggi) for the benefit of nieces. The mamak kepala waris is the holder of the control and maintenance of harta pusaka tinggi of the community. Second: the development of the Minangkabau indigenous people is inseparable from the change in their society, because the Minangkabau people are dynamic and able to keep up with the current development both internally and externally.

Keywords: mamak kepala waris, harta pusaka tinggi, matrilineal descent

marriage, so that the position of the wife is higher than that of her husband. The community that adheres to this kinship system is the Minangkabau indigenous community. Third, the parental or bilateral kinship system is a kinship system based on lineage through the descent of fathers and mothers who draw a line based on their descendants through the father and mother and upper. Parental and bilateral communities are widely adopted by Javanese, Kalimantan, Aceh, Dayak community and so on.

Associated with the three existing kinship systems, the form of marriage is one of the main ways to maintain the continuity of the kinship system. Humans cannot develop without marriage, because marriage causes the existence of descent and descent causes a family develops into kinship and society. Therefore, marriage continues human life and society.

Indigenous people behold the purpose of marriage is to form an eternal family and to foster and maintain harmonious and peaceful kinship relations. So marriage according to customary law relates to family, community and family affairs. Indigenous people who are still relatively strong, their kinship principles are based on genealogical descent, then marriage is a living value to be able to continue the descent, maintain the genealogy and social position concerned. Also sometimes marriage is a means of improving kinship. Another aspect of marriage is related to one's position on one's wealth and position towards inheritance of wealth.

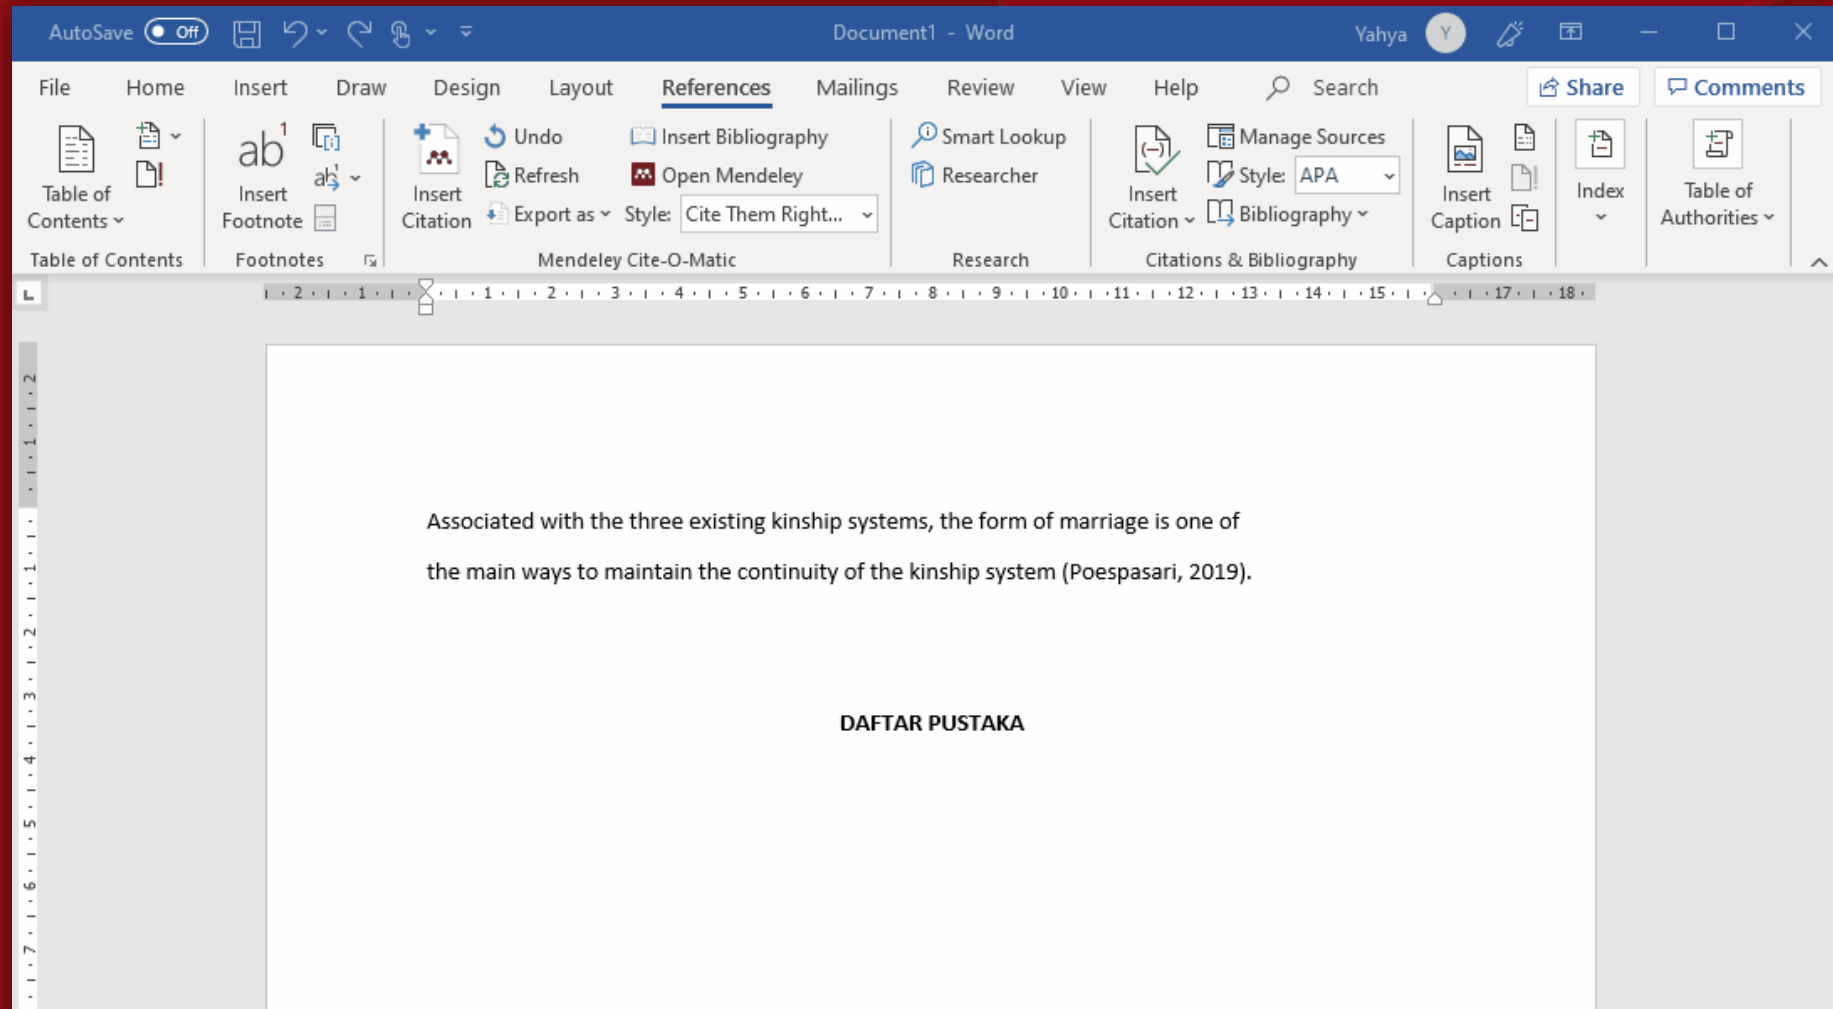

The Minangkabau community adheres to a matrilineal kinship system; a blood related family organization that prioritizes the maternal (female) lineage. This system implements semando marriage customs, whereby after marriage the husband is under
